Room 59, P. O. D., was like a deserted cave to-day. The sole occupant was De-tective Gibson, in his shirt sleeves, who, though not engaged, kept the door locked and allowed no one admission until he had first taken a peep at them through the key-hole. There were no developments in the star-route business to-day.

The Secretary of the Interior reas-serted to-day that no immediate changes were contemplated in the heads of divisions were contempated in the heads of divisions in his department. It was possible, he said, that the appointment of a new commissioner of the General Land Office might give rise to one or two elerical changes, but beyond that no removals or transfers were contemplated.

General Grant, in a spicy interview for the benefit of his friend Conkling, an-nounces the senatorial courtesy to mean that a nomination must be at once withdrawn if not agreeable to both Senators of the interested state. In some respects we thought the country at large was interested in these things, but the General's rule worked well when he had a chief justice to pick out.

SECRETARY BLAINE.—The reports of the ill-health of Secretary Blaine were entirely unfounded. His health is all right. He has not been at the office for several days past, but that was only because he had some important matters to attend to, and, in order not to be disturbed, has done the work at home. Next week he will leave for a short visit to his bome in Maine.

THE LAST Congress provided for the establishment of several hundred new post routes in the various States and Territories. The Post Office Department has taken no steps yet leoking to the letting of these routes beyond a general inquiry as to the character of service required and the necessity of their establishment. Advertisements for bilds to perform this service will be pullished about the first of September, and it is proposed to have all the routes in operation by the first of January. by the first of January.

AN ALLEGED SPANISH OUTRAGE,-The schooner George Washington, Captain Par-sons, sailed Saturday for the West Indies for another cargo of fruit. While in Baltimore Captain Parsons received a letter from Secretary Blaine inviting him to call at the Spanisa gunooa binseo de Garay. Captain Parsons came to Washington, as requested, but was unable to see the Secretary, and was obliged to set sail without being able to culighten the Department on the subject further than through his affidavit.

THE new volunteer system of employing THE new volunteer system of employing clerks to earry on the census work has succeeded beyond expectation. The temporary or volunteer roll is complete, and many more persons have applied to be retained than were needed. The only persons thus employed are the most efficient of those who had not been discharged before the system went into effect. No one discharged series went into effect. No one discharged prior to that time has been or will be taken back. A statement has been made that this employment of people on an uncertainty will open up a new field for money brokers and open up a new field for money brokers and shavers to operate in. The Interior Depart-ment officials say that parties who advance money to the census clerks do so at their own risk, and in no instance will it be sanctioned by the department, as neither the Secretary of the Interior nor the Super-intendent of the Census has any right to guarantee that Congress will agree to ap-propriate money to may the clerks. propriate money to pay the clerks.

THE WORK ON THE EXTENDED BONDS.

The clerks of the Loan Division of the Treasury Department, who have been busy with the necessary elerical work required in extending the 5 and 6 per cent, bonds at 32 per cent., had a rest on Sunday for the first time in many weeks. Since the work of ex-tending commenced, the clerks have been a leave of absence except on account of ill-ness. There is now somewhat of a luli, al-though much work connected with the extension of the bonds still remains to be done. One reason why the work is less pressing than for some time past, is the slow rate in than for some time past, is the slow rate in which the coupon five per cents are coming in to be stamped. An officer of the Treasury expressed the opinion that the holders of these bonds do not realize that only eighteen days remain in which exchanges can be effected. He says that of the $118,.00,000 of coupon fives which must be presented by the 1st of July in order to be extended, in pursuance of the last call, only abo * $30,000,000 have thus far been received. THE PRESIDENT and several of his Cabinet will probably make a visit to the Indian school, at Carlisle, Pa., on Thursday next. The question will be settled at the Cabinet meeting to-morrow. Mrs. Garffeld is steadily gaining in strength, and her speedy recovery is looked for. She was able to come down to dinner yesterday for the first time, but it was necessary to carry her. It is expected that she will be able to leave the house in about a week. It has not yet been decided when will go.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISITORS. — Among those who saw the President to-day were Senators Miller and Pugh; Representatives Senators Miller and Pugh; Representatives Neale and Ryan, ex-Senator Osborne, ex-Representatives Gardner, McKee and Rice, Dr. J. W. Clift, of Ga.; Dr. Wm. Bowman, of Ky., and Mr. A. G. Riddle. The White House was thronged with visitors to-day, not more than one-third of whom saw the President, but the others hovered around all day, just the same. Only one man from Maryland showed up. This was R. A. Mc-Allister, of Baltimore. He made no secret of his purpose. He didn't want an office for himself but wanted to have Collector Thomas, of Baltimore, turned out, and Col. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, Mr. Kelley's friends say that he will not only get the support of the Stalwart element in the House, but will also get the entire greenback vote. Rumor says that President Garfield is already manipulating the patronage of the Administration with a view of heading off the democratic-green-back plan to capture the organization of the next House.

THE FINANCES OF the Government are represented to be in a very healthy condition. Affairs are being run very close, however, in order to be prepared for the bonds due July 1 and August 13. The cash balance now in the Treasury is about $155,000, one and the surplus revenues this month will amount to about $10,000,000, which will close the balance at the end of this facal year, June 30, with about $165,000,000. Sixteen million of this will be paid out July I on the uncontinued six per cents. The remainder of the unredeemed fives will be due on the 13th of August, but their exact amount is as yet undetermined. About 8260,000,000 have been sent in, but of these 850,000,000 are awaiting a legal decision as to their availability for continuance, owing to certain informalities in the notices sent in. The fives due under the call of March 25, 1880, have all been provided for. Altogether the end of the first quarter of

Com-mander Huntington, of the latter vessel, reports that he encountered a severe gale off Fatsizio on the 17th inst, which carried away the bolstays, head booms, and nearly all the iron work forward. Observations have been taken to establish the longitude of Port Lloyd, the result agreeing very nearly with that given by the Vincomes. Lieut, J. A. Norris and Ensign C. Laird, both of the Viloz, are at Nagasaki, on their way to Vtadiyostock, Siberia, on duty connected with the telegraphic determination of longitudes. The Monocaey is at Yoko-hama. A large colored delegation, numbering forty-six persons, and including Aaron Russell (chairman), R. W. Tompkins, Walker Lewis, Jesse Lawson, Dr. A. T. Augusta, Dr. J. R. They presented as address. of the District. They presented an address, setting forth their claims for recognition as young men of all sections of the country, thanking the President for the appointment of ex-Senator Bruce as Register of the Treas ury, and expatiating on the valuable mili-tary, civil and political services of Mr. Holland and his eminent fitness for the position in question. A weil-dressed, intelligent-looking pil-grim presented himself early at the portals of the Executive Mansion to-day and asked permission to see the President. He was informed that the President was too busily engaged to see him. He walked away thoughtfully to a window-sill, where he wrote a note with a pencil, and handing it to an usher asked that it be taken up stairs.

The note read as follows.

GRANT'S INDIGNATION

At the Manner of Conkling's Treatment.

His Views Freely and Energetically Expressed.

DENIAL OF ANY BARGAIN AT MENTOR.

What He was Promised by Garfield and What He Failed to Get.

CHICAGO, June 13.—In an interview to-day General Grant spoke freely of the situation in Albany, and said: "If you want to know what I think of the manner in which Mr. Conkling has been treated by the President and by his cellengues in the Senate, I will tell you willhout any hesitation. I think it most outrageous: and if you want to know where I stand in the present contest, I will tell you that I am with Coakling and Platt. Mr. Conkling is my friend. He has been a warm supporter of mine, but, for all that, I do not owe him near so much to-day as Garfield. It is true that Mr. Conkling did not support Garfield in the Caleago Convention, but he saved him in November."

Conkling a Necessity.

Without New York state Mr. Garfield could not have been elected, and without Mr. Coulding New York state would not Mr. Conkling New York state would not have gone republican. Whenever the state has gone republican in past years the cause could be traced to Conkling and his per-sonal efforts. When I say that Garfield owes more to Senator Conkling than I do, owes more to Schator Construing than I co, I do not mean to underestimate the obliga-tions that I am under to him, but I was elected once without the state of New York, and when it did go for me, I would have been elected without it. When Mr. Conkling went to Warren and commenced his vigorous campaign for the republican party and Garfield matters looked very serious.

Defeat was Almost Certain.

It was then and then only, that republicans took heart, and from that time on the battle turned. Mr. Conkling went into the campaign because he was a republican and because he desired the success of his party, not because of any trade he had made with Garfield. It was in accord with the resolutions which he offered in the national convention pledging the support of every delegate to the candidates nominated, whoever they might be. This was done because ever they might be. This was done because several had declared that if I was nomi-nated they would bolt. In regard to The Menter Treaty, several had declared that if I was nominated they would bolt. In regard to

of which we have heard so much, there was not a word of trath in the sensational reports that were published concerning what occurred during our visit. We were in the state speaking, and in compliance with Garfield's off-repeated requests. I determined to call at Menter, as it could be done without putting us much out of our way. Conkling said that he would go with me. Arriving at Garfield's house, we found a crowd of people there, probably 150

Trade or a Bargain.

Mr. Carpenter (interrupting)—I object to such a statement.

Mr. Bangs—I am glad to knew counsel for Mr. Sessions frankly confess their line of defense, and hope that their counsel will be allowed to continue in the fine of inquiry. The counsel discussed at length the allowed to continue in the line of inguiry. The counsel discussed at length the allowed to continue in the line of mr. against Conkling and be accepted it as such. In the first place, it was an insult, and Conkling, and was probably chosen for that reason. I don't believe it ever would have happened if Mr. Blaine had not been in the Cabinet. I know nothing personally of Conkling's purposes or intentions, having neither seen nor heard from him since this affair happened, but from my knowledge of him and from what I have learned of those who have talked with him, I am of opinion that he went home to stay. But, as you know, no sooner had he got out than a series that he acted petulantly, and was the called to sulk and play the child because he called not have things to suit him. All these stories seem to emanate from the White House and that locality. Even after he was out they could not let him cost in peace.

What Conkling Can and Will Bo.

Gonkling is a proud and, and I presume he said when all these contemptible stories he said when all these contemptible stories ame to his cars. Twill show them what I came to his cars. Twill show them what I have the condition was not in order which the resolution was not in order which he said when all these contemptible stories came to his ears, "I will show them what I can do. I will go back again, I will fight them;" and he will do it, too. They may beat him through the means resorted to, but they can never carry New York State without him. The contest will, in all probability, be carried over to another session.

How Garfield Went Back on Grant,

Respecting wimi he had asked of the Ad-ministration, the General said: "After Garfield was elected be wrote me several letters filled with protestations of gratitude at what he chose to call my valuable services during the campaign, and asked me to give him a chance to repay in part the great debt he thought be owed. He said he wanted my assistance and the benefit of my travels and experience in making his selec-tions for foreign appointments. I finally wrote him that my brother in-law Cramer was sick and wanted to get out of Denmark was sick and wanted to get out of Denmark, and asked for his transfer to some place south, naming Spain, Belgium and Portugal. He was sent to Switzerland. But you see it was all part of a plan. Gen, Badeau was known to be a friend of mine. He was sent to Denmark in order to make a place for Merriti. Merritt was appointed to the New York custom-house because he was known to be an enemy of Conkling and for the purpose of breaking the latter up. Falling in this, Robertson, a still greater enemy, was se-lected to complete the work, and it was of course necessary to provide for Merritt. Hence these changes. But it is not likely that I would ask for any transfer that would

BRIBERY INVESTIGATION

MR. BRADLEY ON THE STAND.

Mr. Bradley on the Stand—His Cross-Examination by Sessions—Counsel's Attempt to Prove a Conspiracy.

Examination by Sessions—tonusel's Attempt to Prove a Conspiracy.

Alaaxy, N. Y., June 13.—The investigation of the alleged bribery case was continued this morning before the special committee of the Assembly.

Assemblyman Bradley was railed to the witness stand. Mr. Bangs, of counsel for committee, asked Mr. Bradley how he had voted on the semitorial question. He replied that at first he voted for White and Cornell and later on for Conkling and Platt. He had conversed with Mr. Sus-lons as to the way he land voted and had given him as a reason for such clause of vote the feeling among his constituents, many of whom were friendly to Conkling and Platt. He land stated that he intended to change of vote.

Mr. Bradley was cross-examined by Mr. Pecitian, with regard to his business for years past, from which it appeared that he was engaged in the oil business in Pennsylvania, and lass fixed in Olean, S. Y. show 1875. Before that he was engaged in the lumber trade in the south and southwest.

The fact was brought out that he boarded for civit mounts at the Respirate Asylum at lumber trade in the south and southwest. The fact was brought our that he bearded for eight months at the Inchriste Asylum at Binghampton. He said that for five years he had been in active polities. The examination then came down to the Senatorial contest, and testified that at the January election Mr. Sessions wanted him to vote for Mr. Depew, and Bradley said he would vote for no one except a stalwart. In January Sessions made him no offer of money for his vote. After Conkling and Platt had resigned he said Sessions knew he would vote for stalwarts only. Bradley said that Senators Loomis and Sessions, and Assemblyman for stalwarts only. Bradley sold that Senators Loomis and Sessions, and Assemblyman Morgan and myself went at the Keimore the Friday after the resignations were received here, and we had an animated discussion about the canvass. I told Mr. Sessions that it was a sure thing that Coukling and Platt would be re-elected. Sessions was carnest in his opposition to Coukling and Platt, and on all occasion advised me to vote against them. I told him in reply that I would vote just as I saw fit; I did not answer him in an angry tone, but went to his oom to have him understand that I was still with the stalwarts. I was not angry still with the stalwarts. I was not angry about it. I did not calculate to vote for Conkling and Platt on the first ballot, and I told them I would not. In a caucus or conference of independent stalwarts, I gave as
